The Colfax-Mingo Board of Directors held a work session to understand and discuss the school district's various funds. In particular, the Board reviewed the Physical Plant and Levy fund, both board-voted and public-voted portions (VPPEL); the debt service fund, and the one-cent sales tax capital projects fund (Secure an Advanced Vision for Education, or SAVE). Matt Gillaspie, from the public finance service firm of Piper Jaffray & Co., presented information regarding the revenue sources and qualifying expenditures for these funds, and to relate those uses to facility improvements and equipment purchases this district may be considering.
